

LEADING LAW FIRMS' CHOICE FOR FINE FURNITURE

WALLGOLDFINGER | MOOT COURTS

MOOT COURTS: a movable courtroom for your law practice

JURY BOX
Jury boxes are also built in sections and movable

ATTORNEYS' TABLES
Arbor tables with removable legs for quick and compact storage in a single upright cart

JUDGE'S BENCH, WITNESS STAND AND REPORTER'S DESK
Moot courts are custom built in movable sections according to your design and materials needs

LECTERN

PAST WORK

HIGHLIGHTS

- Built in sections and set on casters for easy removal and reuse of valuable meeting space
- Protected corners to help prevent wear
- Lightweight panels for ease of movement
- Casters with locking brakes for stability when in use
- Hidden casters for outstanding aesthetics

ABOUT

WallGoldfinger Furniture crafts corporate office furniture for the nation's leaders, including leading law firms. Historically this has meant large boardroom tables, conference tables, reconfigurable multipurpose room tables, credenzas, lecterns, reception desks and more. In more recent years, a trend has emerged as attorneys, arbitrators and law students work to hone their courtroom skills outside the courthouse. That trend is what WallGoldfinger Furniture calls moot courts, or custom built judges' benches, witness stands, jury boxes, lecterns, attorneys' tables, court reporters' desks and more installed in multipurpose spaces.

Moot courts provide lawyers and their clients a place to practice trial techniques and questioning before facing an actual judge and jury in the courtroom. And, best yet, they are often movable so a moot courtroom can quickly return to a multi-use space. Architects', designers' and clients' specifying custom built moot courts from WallGoldfinger Furniture most often request a movable solution. WallGoldfinger has perfected a technique of building moot courts in sections, set on casters. They are easily put together for use and then just as easily taken apart and rolled away when not in use, freeing up valuable real estate.

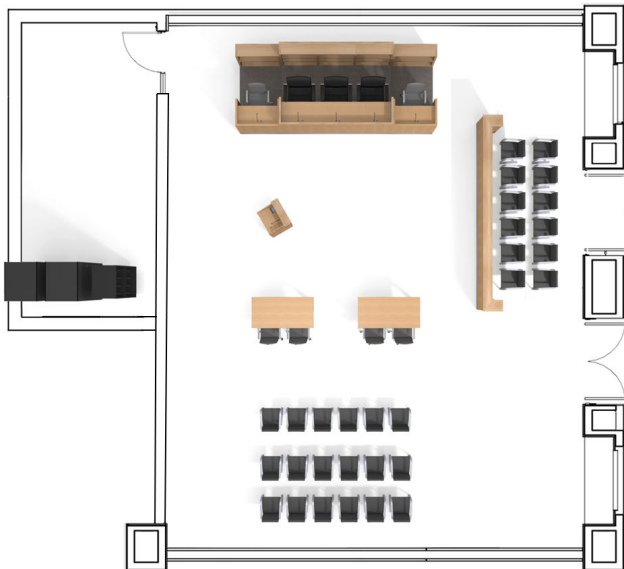

At the same time, moot courts from WallGoldfinger Furniture are stunning pieces of furniture. Made in materials – often veneers, solid woods and metals – to match a law office or law school's room décor, moot courts are built in a variety of configurations with the highest quality craftsmanship from expert furniture makers and finishers.

ENGINEER'S DRAWING

This engineer's drawing shows a real life example of how a moot court is built in sections and comes together. The sections can easily be disassembled and moved to clear a room for another use, such as a company function. In today's real estate market, space is precious, making a movable moot court ideal for attorneys' offices with versatile needs.

RECONFIGURABLE FOR MULTIPURPOSE ROOMS

MOOT COURT SET-UP/ARBORS IN STORAGE

CONFERENCE SET-UP/MOOT COURT IN STORAGE

CLIENTS

Partial listing only

Law Firms

Allen & Overy
Arnold & Porter
Baker & MacKenzie
Blank Rome
Brown Rudnick
Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft
Chadbourne & Parke
Clearly Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton
Clifford Chance
Covington & Burling
Cravath Swaine & Moore
DLA Piper USA

Fried Frank Harris Harris Shriver &
Jacobson
Gibson Dunn
Goodwin Procter
Greenberg Traurig
Hogan Lovells
Hughes, Hubbard & Reed
Jones Day
Kaye Scholer
Lowenstein Sandler
Mayer Brown
McDermott Will & Emery

Milbank Tweed Hadley & McCloy
Morgan, Lewis & Bockius
Patterson Belknap Webb & Tyler
Paul, Weiss
Pepper Hamilton
Proskauer
Reed Smith
Ropes & Gray
Sidley Austin
Simpson Thacher & Bartlett
Sullivan & Cromwell
Weil, Gotshal & Manges
White & Case

WALLGOLDFINGER
FURNITURE | a division of Mark
Richey Woodworking

168 North Main Street, PO Box 187
Northfield, VT 05663
T. 802.278.5800
sales@wallgoldfinger.com
www.wallgoldfinger.com